Camp Good Grief

For Parents, Caregivers & Educators

Children may respond to grief activities in different ways. Some may want to talk, draw, write, or simply sit quietly. Allow the child to guide the activity and share at their own pace.

Helpful conversation starters

- Tell me about this memory.
- What made this special?
- What do you miss most?
- What would you want them to know?
- What helps you feel close to them?

The goal is to create a safe place to remember, express feelings, and stay connected to love.
